Subject: RE: Undeliverable: redistricting plans

I am outraged at the lack of notice given to residents of my area as it relates to possible redistricting of the La Crescenta Montrose areas. Your website states that "Boundary Review Committee outreach will include the following:

- News advisories/press releases;
- Media advertising;
- E-mail notices publicizing meetings and public hearing to cities, neighborhood councils, and interested organizations, communities, and individuals;"

Unfortunately, you must have forgotten about doing these things as our local paper did not receive any such news advisories or press release. There were no media ads placed in our local paper "The Crescenta Valley Weekly". There was no email notice received by me, even though I am on every local "concerned resident" list. There was no public hearing notice in our local paper, there was no public hearing in our area. Our local town council received no notice nor did any of the "interested organizations" that I belong to.

So, I am just curious. Exactly what kind of "outreach" did you do for the 40,000 or so residents of the unincorporated county area of La Crescenta and Montrose?

And you are probably wondering why attendance at your meetings has been poor and why we as a community seem disinterested. I have never seen such a poor job of "getting the word out".
